MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

After a year with no football due to the pandemic, the CFL returned this year to the delight of it's fans, players and alumni. Following the leadership of CFL Commissioner Randy Ambrosie, CFLPA President Solomon Elimimian and Executive Director Brian Ramsay the CFL is back live-in front of fans across the country and posting large TV audiences. One of the lessons learned during the pandemic is the need for humans to interact and we are seeing the great fans of Canadian football out at stadiums nationwide supporting our great game and safely enjoying much deserved entertainment.

I have had the pleasure in my role as CFLAA President to attend recent CFL Alumni live events including: The Saskatchewan Polytechnic press conference at Mosaic, Cal Murphy Memorial Golf, Riders Alumni Golf, Blue Bombers Alumni Golf, Whiskey and Wine and AGM. What is apparent from attending these amazing events is that the leadership built in CFL locker rooms lives on in business and in giving back to the football community and Community at Large. At the Winnipeg Alumni AGM we had alumni stand up and challenge former players who do not attend our activities to get on board with the alumni team to help at fundraisers and promoting the Blue Bombers and the CFL to a younger generation of fans. This competitive nature is one of the reasons why CFLAA players are volunteering on alumni association boards and in the community across Canada.

Despite the many challenges presented by the pandemic the CFLAA continues to make a difference. The CFLASF Committee is active promoting and using our support fund to assist former players with medical and life-changing situations. The CFLAA Operations team led by our Founder and Executive Director Leo Ezerins continues to drive our fundraising events and benefits packages to increase the value proposition for alumni players to join the CFLAA and Executive Member Alumni Associations. Linda Wood Edwards has continued to provide veteran leadership on governance issues and the volunteer CFLAA Board of Directors are working to make a difference wherever we can. The CFLAA is also supportive of CFL initiatives #DiversityisStrength and #OrangeShirtDay to address racial inequities and remembrance.

It has been a tremendous honour to serve the CFLAA as President for the last six years and I look forward to the future of Canadian Football and how former players can continue to enjoy the game and be contributing members of the clubs that they played for.

Brett MacNeil President-CFLAA

On behalf of the Canadian Football League, I want to congratulate everyone associated with the Legends Luncheon.

Special thanks to the Canadian Football League Alumni Association and the Hamilton Tiger-Cats Alumni Association for working in partnership to make this event possible.

Thanks to all the great fans and sponsors whose support makes it a success. And best wishes to the men you are honouring as your co-Alumnus of the Year: former Tiger-Cats Bob Krouse and Jason Riley.

I remember Bob as an excellent linebacker with those dominant Hamilton defenses of the 1960's and, of course, 1972, when his team captured the Grey Cup on home soil.

Jason was also a great Grey Cup champion, also with Hamilton in 1986, and an all-star and award-winning offensive lineman, playing with three teams in total. (I have the utmost respect for Bob, but I might favour, I just might favour Jason by a little bit. You know how we offensive linemen are: we stick together.)

I'm sure many memories will be stirred, many stories will be swapped, and many laughs will be had at this year's event. Perhaps, a few tears will be conjured up as well, as we recall those we have lost including, most recently, the great Angelo Mosca.

Few players have made it to the CFL, let alone achieved legendary status, without overcoming obstacles, from bitter defeats to frustrating injuries, in their pursuit of excellence and the Grey Cup trophy.

We appreciate that fact more than ever in 2021, when our league is mounting a comeback of its own, following the hiatus forced by COVID 19. I want to take this opportunity to thank everyone who has worked and sacrificed to get us back on the field – our League Governors, our Presidents, our staff, and our coaches and especially, our players and our fans.

Our players came back ready to play, despite numerous obstacles. And our fans, who never left our side, have come out to cheer their teams on.

The Legends Luncheon is also making a comeback, of course - in a different kind of venue this year, with a different format, and in what has become a unique time in our league's history.

But that's what Legends do, right? They come back - and they come up big. Congratulations again.

Yours in football,

bois

Randy Ambrosie, Commissioner Canadian Football League

To All CFL Alumni,

Like so many across the country, it has been challenging for our membership as we navigated the past 20 plus months. We took on those challenges through this pandemic, and we are now emerging with a sense of accomplishment and pride as I write to you at the conclusion of this 2021 season. We saw many of our members become alumni members as they shifted from the game to the rest of their lives.

Understanding the difficult transition that many athletes face at the end of their sports careers, in 2016, the Association created the CFLPA Academy as a resource for members to prepare for life after football. In the five short years since inception, the program now boasts over 65% enrollment by members and over 1400 individual historical users from our annual membership of 600. The program was never more important than over these past two years when we saw those numbers increase significantly as individuals found their future paths like you all have previously done.

The Pillars of the Academy include Education (Oregon State, Athabasca University, Saskatchewan Polytechnic, Ontario Tech University), Career Counselling, Transition Opportunities, and Health & Wellness. The program consists of scholarships, internships, one-on-one coaching, financial literacy (Enriched Academy), and wellness platforms (Morneau Shepell's "LifeWorks") for all CFLPA members at no cost. Since the creation of the Academy, the Association has seen members train to become firefighters, airline pilots, start undergraduate degrees and finish graduate degrees while playing in the CFL and into their transition from professional sports.

The connection to our alumni is this. The program is offered to all active CFLPA members for three years post their final contract. That support and extension to the CFLAA allow for a greater success rate for all of us as we leave the field for the last time.

Wherever you are in your journey post-CFL, please contact our Association (admin@cflpa.com) if you would like to become part of this program. Whether you are, one year removed and still finding your path or towards retirement and able to offer mentorship, your guidance, experience, and leadership in this essential part of our members' lives are invaluable.

I am proud to be an alumnus of the CFL and look forward to the days ahead together.

Brian Ramsay

CANADIAN FOOTBALL LEAGUE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

LUMNUS OF THE YEAR

Background:

The inaugural CFL Alumni Association Man of the Year award was presented in 2008 at an exclusive Alumni event during Canadian Football Hall of Fame Weekend (first time in Winnipeg) at the Manitoba Club.

A nominee from each Alumni Association was submitted to the CFLAA Board of Directors. The Board unanimously selected Sam Etchevery.

Unfortunately, Sam passed two weeks before the event. The award was presented to his brother, Steve Etcheverry, by Paul Robson. The event's emcee was Wade Miller.

In 2010 the Board decided to have the local Alumni Association of the host Grey Cup city make the selection for the award to be presented at the CFLAA Legends Luncheon.

The CFLAA Board renamed the CFLAA Man of the Year to CFLAA Alumnus of the Year.

ANGELO MOSCA

I remember the first time I met Ang face to face. It was through a happenchance meeting outside the Winnipeg Arena circa 1980. Angelo "King Kong" Mosca was the headliner on the card for All Star Wrestling that night.

I was walking from practice with Paul Robson, former Blue Bomber and Assistant GM. Ang immediately recognize Paul. They exchanged pleasantries and Paul introduced me to Ang. Paul then asked how the wresting career was going. Ang replied, "Paul, I burnt my CFL money and now I'm making so much wrestling I have to weigh it!"

Anyone who has crossed paths with Ang has their own stories and remember his one-liners

I really got to know the true Ang Mosca, the big guy with a big heart, but not one to take any "crap" from anyone. He lived life like he played football. It was over 30 years later when I asked him to be on a panel with other Hall of Famers for our inaugural CFL Alumni Man of the Year in Winnipeg. He accepted without hesitation, and from that day forward whenever asked he stepped up.

So many stories to tell, and I believe the most important one has been overlooked. Not only in life did he support former CFL players through the CFL Alumni Association by helping raise funds for the CFL Alumni Association Support Fund, but also after he passed.

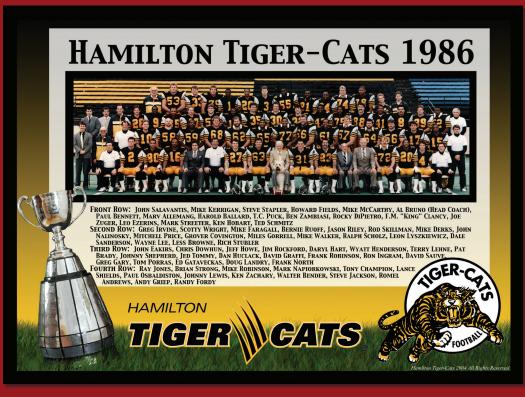

Ang asked for fans to donate to the CFLAA Support Fund, and he donated his brain to the Canadian Concussion Centre in Toronto to assist in their research into brain injury and the long-term effects.

Thank you, Angelo Mosca, for being you and for the legacy you have left the CFL and all of Canada!

Thank you for being a friend!

CFLAA SUPPORT FUND

The CFLAA Support Fund (CFLAASF) is a completely discretionary fund created by the members of the Canadian Football League Alumni Association (CFLAA) to offer financial support to fellow alumni who are experiencing financial hardship due to a medical condition or the sudden loss of income. We provide aid up to the listed amounts in Plan A, Plan B or for Crowd Funding. We are governed by our mission and vision statements.

Donations to the CFLAA Support Fund

We need to build the fund to be prepared to meet future requests for financial support for former CFL players. The recent awareness and the reality of the long-term effects on the body and mind from playing the game will increase the need. The most recent challenge has been to endure the financial and career implications of the pandemic.

The CFLAA Support Fund has been able to help several former CFL players along the way.

Recently, we helped cover medications for a 35-year-old alumnus who is fighting a rare form of life-threatening cancer and whose provincial plan does not cover some of the expense. He is unable to work and is relying on limited government assistance.

A neighbour notified us of a former player who has a physical handicap and has been struggling for years to make ends meet. He was at the point of selling his personal belongings to pay for food and clothing. The CFLAASF was able to help by paying his monthly medication bills.

A member, who was temporarily unemployed for a relatively long period, needed short-term assistance while recovering from prostate cancer. He fell behind in rent and utilities to the point he was served with an eviction notice. We provided a reprieve.

We supported a member after years of struggle including loss of family who had admitted himself into a drug and alcohol treatment facility.

A former Hall of Fame player and CFL coach needed lower back surgery which left him unable to walk unassisted. We are helping by subsidizing the intensive physical therapy required so that he will be able to walk unassisted, and most importantly to be independent.

The CFLAASF relies on money raised at the CFLAA Grey Cup Legends Luncheon and other fundraisers plus limited donations from the CFL, CFLPA, and local Alumni Associations. We would also like to thank Lyle Bauer and the Never Alone Foundation for their partnership and substantial contribution through the Never Alone Foundation Rose Project. The funds are earmarked for support to those who are diagnosed with Cancer.

The assistance and fundraisers are helpful but still leaves us with a shortfall in funds to be able to fully assist former CFL players in need. We need your help.

PLEASE CONSIDER MAKING A PERSONAL OR CORPORATE DONATION.
